To whom it may concern:

I am writing to encourage your support in the work of the Abortion Recovery International Network (ARIN). I am one of the 45 million women in the US who has experienced an abortion. I personally understand the suffering and shame that accompanies abortion and for 25 years, my life was impacted by the decision I made when I was 18, scared and pregnant.

After coming into a relationship with Jesus Christ 15 years after my abortion, I continued to run from my past not wanting any of my new Christian friends to know I had been "that kind of woman." I hid my secret for another 10 years. It wasn't until God called me to an abortion recovery program that I received His mighty healing and experienced redemption through Christ.

Since participating in that abortion recovery program, I have offered my professional skills as a web developer to the Lord with the prayer that I might be allowed to impact the pregnancy center and abortion recovery community. To date, my company is blessed to have launched:

- More than 30 websites for pregnancy resource centers
- More than 20 websites for abortion recovery programs

Not only is the work that we're doing important to the pro-life community, but it's great testimony to the power of God when you consider what He's been able to accomplish through this one fallen and forgiven soul whom He set free. When I think of the power that waits to be unleashed for the Kingdom of God when men and women are set free from their abortions...it's staggering.

Stacy Massey is a woman consumed with passion for the abortion recovery ministry God has called her to lead. The work that she's doing is ground-breaking and the time for this work is NOW and with THIS generation. My heart races at the potential healing this ministry can bring our nation. Conversely, I fear what might be lost should this ministry fail to acquire funding and support.

I urge you to prayerfully consider what you may offer or bring to the support of this important organization and please do whatever you can to make it happen.

His Faithful Servant and a friend of ARIN,

Cathy Foster, President
